Key findings

#	Finding	Evidence	Slide
1	Cost growth outpaced revenue growth, and salaries drove the gap	In FY2026 compared with CY2024, operating revenue rose 4.3% while expenses rose 16.9%, and salary expense rose 20.3%, an increase of $6,890K. The gap swung the operating fund from surplus to deficit, so the lever is cost discipline, not volume.	5
2	Operations lose money before investment income	The net revenue over expense of Operating Fund before investment income and interest fell from 4,726K in CY24 to (755)K in FY26. Reserve income now subsidies programs, and that support will not repeat if markets fall.	5
3	Liquidity is adequate, but free reserves are thin	Cash and investments cover 6.4 months, while unrestricted funds cover 0.52 months. Board-designated (internally restricted) funds are therefore the real buffer.	5
4	Scheduled housing is a standing gap	The 10 scheduled housing ran at (960)K in FY2026, with subsidy down 1.0% and cost up 6.8%. The gap did not cause the FY26 decline, but it widens as subsidy lags cost.	6
5	Debt concentrated but covered	Mortgages total $32,828K, with 63% on Sandy So Vista, so most refinancing and rate risk sits in one asset. OCF covers interest 8.1x.	6

Headcount-driven salary growth (+20%) pushed operations to a (755)K deficit; reserve income now carries programs while free reserves cover 0.5 months.

1. Costs outran revenue. Operating revenue +4.3%; expenses +16.9%. Salaries (+20.3%) account for 105% of the swing in the result.
2. More higher-paid staff, not raises. Staff paid over $75K rose from 69 to 117 ($4,746K); their average pay barely moved. The remaining $1,607K split awaits FY26 T3010 headcount [TBC].
3. Programs now run at a loss. Before investment income and interest: 4,726K (CY24) to (755)K (FY26). Reserve income now bridges the gap.
4. Liquidity adequate, free reserves thin. current ratio held at 2.0x and cash + investments cover 6.4 months, but unrestricted net assets fell a net 1,381K to 0.5 months.

Scheduled housing is 21% of total rent income and 10% of debt balance, yet lost 960K in FY2026 as subsidy cuts and rising costs widened the gap.

1. Scheduled housing is a small share of rent and debt. It earns 21% of rent (1,244K) and carries 10% of mortgages (3,259K); non-scheduled communities earn the other 79% of rent.

2. Scheduled housing runs at a loss, and subsidy cuts are widening it. In FY2026, 10 buildings lost 960K on 3,170K revenue, with BC Housing funding 60%; the 6 operating in both years account for 952K. Across those 6, subsidy fell 1.0% while costs rose 6.8% (CY24 to FY26); the three with cuts (Crabtree, Fraser, Como Lake) widened 159K, more than the 6-building total, and rent growth absorbed 46% of the cost increase.

3. Crabtree drives nearly half the deficit. Crabtree is 46% of the 6-building deficit at $36,583 per unit vs ~$4,100 - 4,800 elsewhere.
